

NPGA at-Large Director Position Description

The NPGA Constitution provides for 24 at-large Directors on the NPGA Board of Directors. Unlike State, District and Sectional Directors, at-large Directors are not elected to represent a specific state, region or segment of the industry. Rather, they are appointed positions that are intended to balance the Board's composition. For example, appointments are typically made to ensure proper geographic balance or to guarantee that the make-up of the Board remains marketer-driven.

Appointments of at-large Directors are also used to balance representation among interstate and intrastate marketer members. Additionally, in the past, this process has been employed so that the Board could benefit from unique perspectives that otherwise might not be considered, and from input from emerging segments of the industry.

At-large Directors are appointed by the Chairman of the Board of Directors for 1-year terms. They are eligible for appointment to additional terms by succeeding board chairmen.
