

Joint Statement of NPGA & CPA

The U.S. and Canadian propane industries are vitally intertwined and provide home heat to millions of Americans and Canadians, primarily in rural areas. We are committed to safety, reliability, and providing a low-emission and economical energy solution.

Canada supplies one of every seven barrels of propane used in the United States. And equipment and parts vital to keeping costs down on both sides of the border are sourced from around the world.

The National Propane Gas Association (NPGA) and Canadian Propane Association (CPA) are committed to working with American and Canadian leadership to ensure that our citizens continue to have access to affordable and reliable energy, especially during the coldest North American winter in a decade.

NPGA and CPA will continue to monitor ongoing tariffs and work with member companies to analyze their impact.

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "Stephen Kaminski", written over a light blue horizontal line.

Stephen Kaminski
President and CEO
National Propane Gas Association

A handwritten signature in blue ink, appearing to read "Shannon Watt", written over a light blue horizontal line.

Shannon Watt
President and CEO
Canadian Propane Association